

LOCATED on Richland Road, past the tennis courts.
Look for Gate House Entrance

nce and now, in a time of history, a time of tremendous turmoil, constant change and rapid renewal, the people seek perspective. Throughout the ages, the heart of history beats to the primal quest for territory, for essential space wherein we survive. Beyond refuge and shelter, the soul seeks sanctuary, a place to call HOME. Now, in a country that has named the Auburn-Opelika area as the number one place to be for business growth and expansion,* Developer Fred D. Peak creates a concept for community and living happily ever after. From Great Britain to an ever-greater Lee County, bringing inspiration and artistry from the ancestral north country to the northern section of Auburn, Alabama, and so it has begun...

Visit the website www.CotswoldsAuburn.com

Mara Hawks
(cell) 334 524-2220 (ofc) 334 826-0111
"a point of viewing"

www.marahawks.com

*ENTREPRENEUR magazine publication, September 2006

NOTE: images are artistic renderings of actual & proposed construction